

Leadership and Making Decisions

Presented in Brisbane by the Australian Institute of Management.

Join us for a TEL event focused on the challenges and complexities of making decisions as a leader. Our guest speakers will be discussing three very different perspectives on decision making in the workplace. The format will be short, sharp and impactful to expose you to new ways of thinking and help you stay ahead of the curve as an effective leader.

Date: Thursday 20 July 2017
Time: 5:00pm – 7:00pm
Venue: Members Lounge, Level 16/40 Creek Street, Brisbane City
Tickets: $40 Members
$65 Non-Members

australianinstituteofmanagement/find-an-event

Michelle Gibbings FAIM – Founder and Managing Director, Change Meridian

Topic: Is Your Decision Making Dangerous?

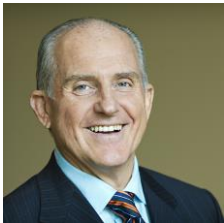

Leadership experts have identified a growing gap between the complexity of the workplace and the capabilities of leaders. Central to this is how leaders make decisions. Advanced decision making isn't easy and yet it's a critical skill for all leaders. Failing to address this ultimately leads to decision failures.

William Pegg AIMM – Director and Founder, Synthesis Group

Topic: The Power of Commercial Rapport

Leaders need to appreciate the impact of 'commercial rapport' and how to better involve people in the heart of the business exchange. No matter our position or title, decisions must be made for more effective engagement and greater commercial returns.

Dr John Hinwood FAIM – Founder and Director, Stress Management Institute

Topic: Building an Emotionally Resilient Mindset

The workplace has become infinitely more complex over the last few years. Mounting expectations have been fuelled by technological innovations, 24/7 work schedules for some and an ever-increasing barrage of information. Building emotional resilience and agility gives mastery over stress.

Proudly sponsored by our catering partner

CUSINE ON CUE
catering.w.style